between co-operation and non-co-operation. I am sure that day to this he has been a man of strength who has not having made that trial mode of attempting to displace the constitution. I think we should have a fair acknowledgment of the difficulty of our position, and place ourselves in the hands of our God, and not in the hands of the majority. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. THORNTON—Why did you not wait for the result of strength?

Mr. McGEE—You should have done it long ago.

Attorney-General MACDONALD—The remark of the hon. member will not prove the point. I rose to do so for a frank and candid discussion.

to the Macdonalds. Every reason for Parliament to be sustained by a noble use of carry over with satisfaction. We had reason to be proud of the work done in and in the sincerity of those who had protagonists that they had which would them to the House. I am sure that we had not approved of the Macdonalds. Every respect, yet they have believed in being going in the proper direction in regard to carrying on the affairs of the House. I am sure that they have been large, and they have supported accordingly. My colleagues and myself owe them the deepest gratitude for their work.

of the House to confirm the use of public money we must make for public participation due to the people and to the Government. It is more than we could help ourselves to. The use of public money is a matter on which all constituents are entitled to the best possible privilege of opinion and to the right to be heard. We felt also that there was a need for which called for our presence and that was to make the system of our organization more visible in view of the

I am, Mr. Members, however, glad to express their opinion and to preside over the debate, and we found we were to have a small party vote on a question after a small party vote on a question at the General Election. On the position I hold, I determine to resign that position, and to leave my colleagues with me have unanimously placed their confidence in the Governor General. I am glad that during the time I have had the honor of holding this responsible position, I may have said many things I regret; but I have not said anything which I think I can now say. I have clearly to interpret what I have hastily uttered, and to believe that when I say something which appeared very pointed, or malicious probably, I do not intend it in the sense understood, or to cause any ill feeling. I have given no offence on the other side. I desire, as far as I am concerned, to give and take, and

Our majority diminished as the question of the new building was discussed, which had been formed members returned to vote not to be realized, we were secretly to consider the matter. The nature, made against the Government, at his home and personal expense was of a determined effort to secure our own private and our own people should not shrink from appeal to the majority before those charged and machine shop.

Mr. CARTER seconded the motion which was carried unanimously, and the House adjourned at 4 o'clock.

We learn from the Sherbrooke Gazette that several additions to the manufacturing facilities of that rising town are being planned by Messrs. Squire and Squires, of Sherbrooke, have commenced a large paper mill immediately below the one now occupied by Mr. Squire and arrangements are being made by them to erect a saw-mill on the river for the erection in the Spring of a large iron foundry and machine shop. It also says—

"Moors, Angus & Logan are preparing to increase their paper-making business in this town. They are planning to erect a mill for preparing wood pulp to be made into paper at their mill in this town. The erection of several other buildings has been commenced. The mining operations in this vicinity are operating in a very satisfactory manner. It is expected that when Spring opens we will look for increased production in all kinds of business."

Washington, 18th.—The Committee on Commerce have agreed upon, and ordered to be reported when called, a bill to be called, a joint resolution of the President by which the President is given authority to the Government of Great Britain that is the intention of the Government of the United States to terminate the Roopertreaty, made with the American Provinces, at the end of twelve months from the expiration of ten years from the time the Treaty went into operation, viz: September, 1854, to allow that the treaty may be renewed for the same period of time, or for the provision thereof, unless a new convention shall be entered into by the two Governments, by which the provisions shall be abrogated, or so modified as to be acceptable to both Governments.—The President is also authorised to appoint three Commissioners by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, for the purpose of negotiating a Convention for the
